Firefighters show competitive side

By JACQUELYN WEINER
Special to The Sun
12:00 am, September 23, 2007

When Gainesville firefighter Drew Halvorson geared up Saturday, it wasn't about saving lives. It was about competition.

Continue to 2nd paragraph
The Gainesville Sun

Gainesville Fire Rescue's Drew Halvorson carries a 175-pound "victim" at the fourth annual Firefighter Combat Challenge at The Oaks Mall on Saturday.

"I love the energy," he said. "It gets me pumped up."

Halvorson, 27, was among the 125 firefighters who competed in the fourth annual Southeast Regional Firefighter Combat Challenge in The Oaks Mall parking lot Saturday. The event continues today, starting at 9 a.m.

Firefighters came from all over Florida and several other states to take their best shot at an obstacle course designed to simulate the physically demanding tasks firefighters take on daily.

The participants, wearing 31 pounds of bunker gear and a 19-pound breathing apparatus, must first climb a five-story tower carrying a 42-pound high-rise hose pack.

After reaching the top, the firefighter hoists up a 42-pound hose roll.

Next, the firefighter hurries down the 63 steps and simulates chopping by swinging a 9-pound mallet at a 160-pound steel beam until it moves 5 feet.

The competitor then navigates a series of hydrant-sized obstacles and blasts water at a target.

Finally, the firefighter drags "Rescue Randy," a 175-pound life-sized dummy, 106 feet to the finish line.

Although these tasks may seem daunting, firefighters face similar challenges on a daily basis, Halvorson said.

"It's very realistic," he said. "Just about everything we do.Â Â relates to real firefighting."

And it's not just about skills; it's about staying in peak physical condition, said Gene Prince, 49, deputy fire chief for Gainesville Fire Rescue.

"Fitness is a big part of what we do," Prince said. "It enables us to withstand the rigors of the job."

The strength and speed of the firefighters was apparent to spectators, such as Linda Wiggins, 50, of Stuart.

"The stamina these guys have...it's amazing," she said.

Saturday's competition marked the individual relays portion of the challenge. The tandem portion of the competition will be held today, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the parking lot of The Oaks Mall near Macy's.

The event cost about $20,000 to put on, said Alex Alston, event manager with the Gainesville Sports Commission.

The Gainesville Sports Commission, GFR and sponsors combine to pay for the competition, he said.

Alston said 300 to 500 spectators are expected to attend the competition over the course of the weekend.

The winner of Saturday's event was Brandon Cunningham of Fort Gordon, Ga., said Paul O. Davis, president to the Firefighter Combat Challenge. Cunningham cruised through the course in 1 minute and 24 seconds.

Gainesville firefighters' average performance time is usually 2 minutes, said Laura Koppel, spokeswoman for Gainesville Fire Rescue.

Although Gainesville Fire Rescue didn't take top honors Saturday, one Gainesville firefighter's performance stood out, Davis said.

Pat Hartley, who has competed in the challenge for 16 years, took third in the "over 50" category. "He's our iron man," Prince said.

Comments

No comments have been posted. To post a comment you must login to your Gainesville.com account. If you don't yet have an account, registration takes only a minute and is absolutely free.

- gainesville.com
- biz directory
- classifieds

Featured Searches

- Andrew Meyer
- Gators
- Homes for sale
- Ole Miss
- Property tax
- Urban Meyer

Today's Most Read
1. Inside the boxscore: Florida 30, Ole Miss 24

2. UF vs. Ole Miss storylines

3. It's about Tim: UF 30, Ole Miss 24

4. Five-star athlete commits to Meyer

5. Notebook: Murphy's Gator chomp draws penalty

6. Police: Meyer calmer off camera

7. FDLE reviews Taser incident

8. UF pass rush still in hiding

9. UF runners gaining ground

10. James is UF's little big man

Local businesses

- Wayne's Bedding & Furniture

  3265 SW 34th St
  Gainesville, FL 32608
  (352) 336-6336

- Gainesville Nissan

  3915 N Main St
  Gainesville, FL 32609
  (352) 378-2311

- University Auditorium - UF Performing Arts

  315 Hull Road
  Gainesville, FL 32611-2750

- Crevasse's Regency Florist Inc

  3409 W University Ave
  Gainesville, FL 32607
  (352) 372-3322

- Matchmaker Realty of Alachua County Inc
El Toro Mexican Restaurant

1723 SW 13th St
Gainesville, FL 32608
(352) 376-6989

Curtis M. Phillips Center - UF Performing Arts

315 Hull Road
Gainesville, FL 32611-2750

Top Jobs

Sales Coordinator Seeking

ACT (BEHAVIORAL HEALTHCARE) CS

RN - LPN Parklands Rehab &

MED. ASST FT 1-2 yrs exp. req.

CNAsF/T - 3-11 + 11-

ASSOCIATE PLANNER for Healthy

Warehouse Employee Alachua

Maintenance Assistant: Must be

FRAMING CARPENTERS, min 2 yrs

Business Development Specialist,